FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

New Kyle Basin Provides Lofty Appeal!

Part of The Stylish Scale Collection from Bristol and Bath.

(Philadelphia, PA – May 23, 2006) Industrial design meets residential living in today’s lofts and condos. With vaulted roofs, floor-to-ceiling windows and rugged industrial features, loft apartments are associated with light, space, freedom and the pulsating heart of the inner city. Lofts are often considered a canvas, desiring to be filled with art. And since lofts are usually one big room and anything on display will likely be in full view, even the bathroom becomes a showcase.

Bristol and Bath’s new Scale Collection provides every loft-dweller with the perfect pieces to not only enhance the bathroom, but to showcase, as if a piece of art. Providing an array of designs from metallic reptile patterns to traditional glass countertops, the Scale Collection will send the mind soaring with creative design elements.

Kyle in pewter finish.

While Kyle possesses an industrial minimalist feel, using a metal barrel as the sink basin, it also pays close attention to detail with a reptile pattern etched into the metal. Adorning oval mirrors provide the perfect accent to create a complete look in the bathroom while providing the illusion of additional space.

The Crocodile Effect Vanity Base measures 24” x 34” and retails for $1,790, and the Copper Basin with matching finish to base is $840, both come with coordinating mirrors that measure 24” x 34” and retail for $410.
